VOLUME 10

COLUMBIA, ADAIR COUNTY, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1907.

NUMBER 51

Alton Packard's song, "The Music of the Band," has been sung by him on the stage for five years, and is still one of his most popular hits. It is one of the popular songs that does not grow old. Packard is said to have been offered $2000 for publishing rights of this song, and refused the offer, preferring to reserve it for his own use and the pleasure of his audience. He will be at the Court-house next Saturday night.

Life insurance agents are thick in Adair county, but there is not much business being written. J. E. Murrell represents the old reliable Connecticut Mutual, and would be pleased to do business with those who want to get into an annual dividend paying company—one that is safe and one that no charges of corrupt dealing has ever been brought against it.

While in the West, Mr. B. F. Tupman met quite a number of persons, who formerly lived in Adair county. He named Geo. R. Squires, T. L. Dunbar, John Chelf, Dr. Zach Taylor, Jo Lyon, Sidney Willis and Pascal Willis. He says they are all in fine health, and are doing well.

Master Paul Hughes, fifteen years old, has been sworn in as deputy postmaster. He is one of the capable boys of town, and in the distribution of packages he handles them like an old stager. Paul is energetic and when he undertakes to do any kind of business he does it right.

Mr. Allen Skipworth, who was in the mercantile business at Burksville, made an assignment last week. His assets are $11,000 and it is believed that he will pay out. Mr. Skipworth left a good farm, the safest employment in the world, to engage in the dry goods business.

A great deal of interest is being manifested in the meeting at White Oak. Rev. Betts is said to be an entertaining speaker and large congregations are hearing him. The attendance was very large last Sunday, many being there from Russell county.

In a few weeks the common schools of this county will begin to close. As they drop out the two colleges in Columbia will gain pupils, and judging the future by the past, both institutions will be filled with boys and girls by the middle of December.

Those who failed to hear Eld. W. K. Azbill, at the Christian church, last Sunday night, missed a sermon full of information, clearly told. As this paper has before stated, Mr. Azbill is a teacher, and in speaking, he never fails to entertain.

Alton Packard is a gentleman whose reputation extends throughout the United States. He will be at the Court-house Saturday evening, Nov. 2. Reserve seats at Cravens' drug store.

Dewitt's Carbolized white Hazel salve is good for little burns and big burns, small scratches or bruises and big ones. It is healing and soothing. Good for Piles. Sold by Page & Dohoney.

The Concrete pavement around the square is completed with the exception of a little stretch in front of the Columbia Hotel, and we understand that it will be put down at once.

Be at the court-house Saturday evening, Nov. 2. Alton Packard, the greatest entertainer between the earth and the moon will be there to make you laugh and grow fat.

More than one hundred extra good cattle were delivered here to Owerd Hardesty last Wednesday. They were bought from different parties at 32 cents.

Congressman D. C. Edwards spoke to a small audience at the court-house last Wednesday forenoon. Many prominent Republicans were conspicuously absent.

There will be an all day singing at Red Lick first Sunday in November, conducted by Prof. Otis Stapp. Every body invited.

Bear in mind that the News will not be published next week until Wednesday.

People are coming from all sections of the county to hear Alton Packard.

Every body will be glad when the election is over.

OF INTEREST TO COLUMBIANS.

About November the 15th, is the choice time for shade tree planting. It is rare this a maple or an elm or ash planted at that season fail to grow, all fine hardy shade trees. While Columbia has a great many fine shade trees, she is badly in need of more. So many new homes have been built in the last two or three years, and a number of them have been neglected in the way of planting out shade trees, a thing that adds so much to the comfort and beauty of homes. You cannot make a handsome home in a country town without nice shade trees. You may build a handsome, up-to-date house, paint it nicely and in good taste, yet you must have grass and trees to complete the appearance of a home and make it comfortable and attractive.

The shades along the side walks, (whether where walks should be,) have in a majority of the town been overlooked. Do you remember during the hot days of the past summer, after passing over one of those long stretches along our streets where there is no shade trees, how you dodged into the shadow of the first little tree you could reach that some thoughtless person had planted along the walk in front of their property? It would not be a big job for every property owner to plant a tree at any 40 feet apart in front of their property, some hardy forest trees, they are both comfortable and attractive and really adds to the value of property and the general appearance of the streets and homes. Was your attention ever called to a place as a nice home, where no trees were growing? No, I guess not, and not likely to ever be. Suitable trees can be found near town in great numbers, but if you prefer you can buy from Hillemer & Sons, at Lexington at a small price. Don't plant trees too small, larger ones grow just as well and not so much danger of being injured, and make shade so much sooner. Study this matter and I believe you will plant the trees, and when you do, your neighbor will do the same and by that means we will soon have shady walks, from one end of town to the other, and not only will it add so much to our comfort, but we will be envied by every town in the state that is not up-to-date on shade trees. Think of the nice shade along C. R. Payne's and Mrs. Mary Garnett's fence, in front of the Christian Church and the Page property, Jo Nat Conover's and Dr. Taylor's; the Hancock Hotel; in front of Mrs. Eubank's and Mrs. Miller's property, and Mrs. Mag Smith's property and a few more places, and watch how they are sought on a hot summer day, when you never see any one take the other side of the street.

A Citizen.

We take the privilege to thank our neighbors and friends for their charity and good will shown our brother and sister during their sickness, also for their true and faithful assistance each and every day during their illness. Their free will offerings made by generous hearts, has helped to smooth the rough path of those left behind, and we do appreciate the benefits bestowed, and for lending a willing hand to help soothe the wounded hearts. The task you had could be performed by more but noble souls, and your services are made more equitable by the reflection that there are those in the world who can feel the woes of others, and lend a willing hand to help them out. There is nothing that tenders the heart, and opens the fountain of love more than the services you have rendered, and which has brought tears of gratitude unknown to those who have never been forced from the sunshine of enjoyment into the cold shade of adversity.

Encouraging reports continue to come from Mr. R. G. Coffey, who is in the mountains of Tennessee. It will be remembered that when he left here he was considerably drawn with rheumatism. His last letter stated that he had become perfectly straight, and was walking four or five miles a day. He feels confident that the mountain air will restore him to health. He also stated that he would come home on a visit soon.

Mr. Creed Harmon became unusually afflicted last Monday afternoon week. He was going about from his home to the residence Mr. W. R. Williams when he suddenly became speechless and powerless. Mr. Joel Tupman and wife, who were passing the road, noticed him standing under a chestnut tree. They spoke, and receiving no response, went to him. After several minutes he managed to convey to them that a severe pain had struck him in the shoulder, rendering him powerless and almost speechless. He was conveyed to his home and Wednesday he was reported better.

TWENTY-ONE YEARS.

Peter Duncan, who killed David Mann, in Russell county, about four months ago, was tried in the Russell circuit court at Jamestown last week, the jury giving him twenty-one years in the penitentiary. Duncan is quite an old man, perhaps sixty-five or sixty-eight years of age.

The particulars of the killing, as we remember, are about as follows: Duncan and Mann had not been on good terms for some time, and had quarreled the evening before, and at the very time Mann was killed his wife was in Jamestown to swear out a peace warrant against Duncan. At the time Mann was killed he was in a corn field at work. Duncan came along, gun in hand, shot and killed him without warning. Mann made no effort to escape, neither did he deny the killing, but meeting a neighbor, he told him to go over in the field and look after Mann, that he had shot him.

Which He Is Interested.

Influence on National Politics of a Victory In State of Kentucky Cannot Be Ignored by Voters.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 17.—Addressing 60,000 persons, gathered at sixteen cities and towns in western and southwestern Kentucky, William Bryan, the greatest living exponent of the principles of Democracy, urged upon his hearers and all other patriotic Kentuckians that they go to the polls on election day, Tuesday, Nov. 5 next, and cast their votes in support of the splendid state ticket headed by Judge S. W. Hager, Democratic candidate for governor, and for legislative candidates who will, in the general assembly of 1905, cast their votes for Governor J. B. McCreary, Republican, as the senator of the United States as the successor of Senator McCreary.

Mr. Bryan's speeches were devoted largely to a discussion of national issues, but in presenting the views which he holds, and which are dear to hundreds of thousands of Democrats the country over, he dwelt at considerable length upon the influence which a Democratic victory in the state of Kentucky this year will have on national politics. He declared it would be an influence that Democrats cannot ignore, as it would be heralded as the first gun to be fired in the celebration of a great national victory. In presenting Democratic doctrines and urging Democrats of Kentucky to rally to the support of the state candidates of the party, Mr. Bryan spoke as follows:

I am down in your campaign this year because I believe that it has an important bearing upon the success of the principles in which I feel deeply interested. I know the men who have been nominated for several of your offices, and I am interested in them, but I am interested even more in the principles for which they stand. I am interested in national politics, as state politics has a national influence upon national politics, and I want to give you two reasons why I believe that every Democrat should be out at the polls this year and vote the Democratic ticket from top to bottom.

In the first place, Kentucky is one of our Democratic states, and I do not want us to have to enter a national campaign handicapped by Republicanism. Kentucky is a Democratic State. There is no local reason why you should turn down an administration that has administered the government economically and in your interest. There is no difference between a state administration that is Democratic and a state administration that is Republican you can go to the other extreme. You can have control, like the state of Missouri, for instance, and compare the expense of the government in the administration of the Democratic with the administration in states which Republicans control. For instance, compare Missouri, a Democratic state, with Pennsylvania, a Republican state, and you will find a difference between the two kinds of administration. It is natural that the Democrats should be more economical than Republicans. It is not natural that a state that taxation is a necessary evil to be done only so far as is necessary for the support of the government. Whereas the Republican party has for a quarter of a century taught the doctrine that taxation is a blessing, and if people have a hard time all you have to do is to increase their taxes in order to lighten their burden and increase their blessings. It is natural that those who believe that taxation is a necessary evil should limit it and restrict it as much as possible, and it is perfectly natural that those who in national politics teach that a tariff is a blessing to the people should give them as much of this blessing as possible when they have a chance to administer the offices.

Then there is this difference between the way the Democrat looks at things and the way the Republican looks at things. The Republican, I do not mean the average Republican who votes, for the average Republican who votes has mighty much influence upon the average Republican who votes. The Republican party and the Republican leaders are not the same thing as the average Democrat. But the high Republican look at society from an entirely different standpoint. The Democrat believes that prosperity works from the bottom up. The Republican believes that prosperity drips down, leaks down from the higher classes, and, therefore, when they come to consider the question of the welfare of the average Republican want policies for the whole people, while the leading Republicans insist that if you legislate for the whole people, they will take care of the poor.

It is natural that looking at government and society from these different standpoints, that the Democrats would more carefully guard the interests of the common people than those in charge of the administration under Republican authority. I say this in regard to the general administration, and I think you will find it true, if you will compare your administration under Democrats with the administration of states which are under Republican rule.

But, my friends, the influence that your election will have on national politics, is an influence that Democrats cannot ignore. If your state were to cast its vote for the Republican party you would find that all over the nation it would be heralded as the beginning of Republican victory in the nation; while if in your state you do as they did in Oklahoma, it will be heralded abroad as the first gun to be fired in the celebration of a great national victory.

Out in Oklahoma they rolled up a majority of nearly 100,000 in favor of a constitution written by a constitutional convention that was nine-tenths Democratic. Nine-tenths is a pretty good ratio, and we cannot ask much more; for our dollars, whether gold or silver, have about ten per cent alloy and nine-tenths pure is considered a very fair ratio even in money, and out in Oklahoma they had a constitution that was ninety-nine per cent pure and I wrote a constitution that was so good that all the Democrats voted for it and a large per cent of the Republicans, and the people of the state. I think that is an indication of the trend of public sentiment, but it gives us two Democratic senators and five Democratic congressmen. I think that is all right here because I want you to give encouragement to the Democrats of this state who are fighting for better government, and by your election this year you will elect a Democratic state officers and put either the Democratic ticket, with Judge Hager at the head, or a Republican ticket in the lead. I think that the people of the United States senator and that senator will hold for six years. He will hold through the next administration and two years into the administration

We need Democratic senators. In the next administration, for the United States senate is the weak point today in this government. They have so many representatives there of corporate wealth that we like in the United States senate Democrats to the core. If I, as Governor Beckham, will stand for the rights of the people, and though I live in Nebraska, I am interested in the senator elected from Kentucky, for before we can secure any remedial relief in any elected office of national character it must pass through the United States senate.

No relief of a national character needed by the people of Nebraska can be secured until it goes through the senate, and therefore the farms of my state are interested, like the people of your state, in having senators there who will listen to the voice of the common people and not receive their instructions from the great trusts and the railroad systems of the country.

And now, my friends, let me give

You see some reasons why Democrats should take courage at the situation which now presents itself. I think that no one in this country is more anxious to see reforms than I have been the last two years. For now something like seventeen years I have been laboring in behalf of reforms, and I am sure that reforms are dearer to me than anything else of a political nature that my country can give. I have watched the country grow and develop day by day; they have developed, and just as the farmer goes out and reduces in the growth and development of his crops, so I have watched with delight the growth and development of these reforms, and in the last two years I have seen the growth of these reforms not only by events, but even by the confessions of Republicans; and these reforms have at last grown so strong that I am sure that no man could be so imprudent to acknowledge the need of several other reforms that which we have been contending and struggling for so long. I am sure that the Government of Republicans before long

Let me give you four of these reasons that have become so strong that a Republican president has admitted the correctness of our position. Take in the first place the enforcement of the law against the trusts. The time has come when convincing some of the people that the trusts are an evil. I remember that in our fight on this subject there were lots of Republicans who were deluged with the idea that about all the good that this country enjoys has been destroyed by the trusts. I remember that the time has come when the trusts, and whenever we have anything in regard to the Standard Oil trust there was always some Republican who would stand on the street corners and tell us that it was the Standard Oil trust that had cheapened the life of the people. I remember a Republican now to make that argument, even in a back alley.

There were many who thought that these great trusts were beneficent institutions, and they were praising them, and they were praising them; but my friends, in the last few years they have come to believe, the Democrats have long believed, that these trusts are a menace to the people, and that they are a menace to the place for the trust magnate who conspires against the welfare of 80,000,000 people, and this sentiment has been growing more and more, and the president says that the enforcement of the criminal law would be a good thing, but as an illustration of the growth of this sentiment, the increase of this sentiment, even Secretary Taft—even Secretary Taft (laughter)—has reached the point where he now admits that ought to be a third trust or two trusts in the penitentiary. While they will admit that it might be good to put one or two in, the rest of the trusts are all right, and that all of them should be put in. So that when the president takes an advanced position on the trust question,

The people praise him for what he has done in the matter of railroad regulation, but where did he get his inspiration? You read in vain the Republican national platform to find it there, and if you look in that hated and despised Chicago platform, you will find the authority for railroad regulation that the president has at last accepted. If you look in the platform of 1900 written at Kansas City, you will find it again, and even at St. Louis, 1904.

while we quarreled over a good many points, and I was not at all satisfied that platform, and it was our third national platform that demanded this reform; and when the president stepped out and advocated this, he was not at all satisfied with it. But let no Republican fault with the president because he stands Democratic ground on some of these questions, for he could not go before the people and advocate a Democratic ground, for we pre-empted all the ground in front several years ago. Some of the Democrats have even resented the manner in which the president has presented the Democratic ideas, but I do not resent it, for our ideas were presented to the public for adoption and our ideas are good. I am not a Democrat because I am a Democrat, but by Republicans, and my regret is not that the president has adopted some of them, but my regret is that he has not adopted all of them. I am not at all sure of conclusions that he has adopted former. When I think of the president and some of the Democratic things he has done, I am reminded of something that I saw in the light of the other man asked him if he was sanctified and he said, 'Yes, in spots,' and so, my friends, when they ask me about the Democratic platform, I say, 'Democratic,' not, I say, 'Yes, in spots,' but that the spots are not large enough and not numerous enough.

Take the subject of the Income tax. I have been in the United States since our position. I can remember a few years ago when the Income tax was denounced by Republicans and denounced most bitterly, and I am glad to state that I have since then been in some contact with Mr. Montross ery, who as on the ways and means committee and who was on the subcommittee that helped to draft that income tax. I happened to be on that subcommittee with him, and I looked back to my part in that income tax act with much regret. I think I should act in my public career, and I rejoice that now some twelve years after the Democratic party fought for it, a Republican president comes up and admits that it is a good thing and we ought to have it in this country, and even Secretary Taft—even Secretary Taft—admits to his postening habits of mind, he thinks we ought not to have it right away.

So you take the question of arbitration between capital and labor—a position taken by the Democrats in 1896, 1900 and 1904—and the president endorses that position today.

On four great propositions he has accepted Democratic doctrine, and yet on some questions has not only not accepted Democratic doctrine, but has advanced very un-Democratic doctrine. He has not yet agreed with us as to the importance of tariff reform, although Secretary Taft—yes, even Secretary Taft—has made an argument against a high tariff, and would have tariff reform after a while.

But, my friends, the president has endorsed a ship subsidy, and when he endorsed a thing not Democratic, he found forty-one Republicans in the lower house who refused to vote with him and voted with the Democrats against a ship subsidy. He endorsed an asset currency, and yet the Republicans in congress were afraid to present it even to the lower house, but agreed with the Democrats against an asset currency even as an emergency currency, that they dared not present it as a bill and act upon it in the house of representatives.

Then the president asserted the doctrine that a treaty can override the laws of a state in regard to their schools. He said that California had made an argument in defense of the right of the state to control its affairs, if I had gone there two years ago, I could not have made the same argument. He then stated the gist of the question, but the moment the right of these people to control their school system was attacked, then all the Democrats in the country were Democrats on the subject of school control, and now the president has proposed the national incorporation of railroads and other great corporations. He said that the Democrats and the American people understand that the purpose of the national incorporations is to take out of the hands of the states the control of the affairs of their state affairs, and carry that control to Washington, and place it down there where it is almost impossible to reach your representatives, there will be no more question of the doctrine that doctrine as against the doctrine announced in California, and you will find the American people, Republican and Democrat, will be in favor of half of the doctrine set forth in the constitution, that while congress is supreme in the affairs of Interstate commerce, the state is supreme in the affairs of its own people and its own people alone.

So that where the president has been Democratic he has gained popularity, and where he has been Democratic he has lost popularity, and thus by his good deeds and by his bad ones he has proven the strength of Democratic ideas in this country.

If any of you think that the Republicans ever won a victory in the last twelve years, I want to remind you that after twelve years of complete rule by rather eleven, during which they have had the president, senate and the house, they have never been able to impress upon this country one single Republican idea. There is not one Republican doctrine today that is as strong as it was eleven years ago. That is the result of eleven years of Republican supremacy in the United States, and the Democratic party out of power has been able to say it can control a Republican president into the acceptance of Democratic ideas as a basis of his popularity.

Now, my friend, if this is true, is it not a bad time for the Democrats of Kentucky to become Peupublicans? Is this not the time when their faith in Democracy should be strengthened rather than weakened? Is this not the time when their hope should be increased rather than diminished? Is this not the time when they should go forth with a larger zeal rather than with indifference?

I am glad to have this chance to look into the faces of those who have passed the campaigns through which I have formed on which I stood, and I come to you with the assurance that I have in your efforts this fall as you were when I was your standard bearer. There is in this audience one who has been attached to me, let me beg him to transfer to Judge Hager and those on the other side of the aisle, the support of Beckham, the full measure of that attachment. My friends, I shall not spend time telling you what splendid men these candidates are. I am satisfied that they deserve your support. I shall not dwell upon the positions to which they aspire. I shall not dwell upon matters of state importance, for I cannot know these things as well as your own speakers. All that I can do is to come from a distant part of the state and urge your presence to the national campaign of your campaign. If any Democrat here thinks it concerns but a state whether one or another is elected governor, let me say to him that the influence of the vote of this state is in the very borders of the land; and as we approach a national campaign, all the things that precede give indication as to the result of that campaign, and as the Democrats rejoice at this position, let me say to you that it indicates a trend of public sentiment toward Democracy, so great a victory for our state ticket in Kentucky will gladden the hearts of millions of Democrats, for it will present a victory in Kentucky for Democracy.

DEEPLY INTERESTED.

racy next year; and if you Democrats who marched to the polls in 1896 and gave me a majority, if today your love of Democracy is as warm as it was then, make the majority larger for Hager and his ticket this fall.

And, my friends, the election for senator has a double significance. A victory for Democracy in your state legislature, like a victory for your state ticket, would be an inspiration to Democrats elsewhere, but it would be more than that. It would send to the United States senate a Democrat, and we need Democrats there. We not only need Democrats there, but we cannot afford to lose any of the Democrats that we have.

Today two Democrats represent Kentucky in the United States senate. If the Republicans carried this state, they would send a Republican as successor to Senator McCreary, and, my friends, if a Republican went there in the place of that Democrat, then your state, instead of presenting two votes in favor of reform, would have a Republican senator nullifying the vote of the Democratic senator, and your state would be a cipher on these questions. The senate is today the weak point. We need reform, but no remedial legislation of a national character is possible until the measure passes the senate as well as the house. You might have a Democratic president and a Democratic house of representatives anxious to relieve the burdens upon the people, and the president may be ready to sign the bill, but if the senate stands between them relief is impossible; and, my friends, I beg you to so cast your votes as to insure a Democratic legislature, for that will insure the election of Governor Beckham to the United States senate.

Now, I have given you my reason for being here. I am interested in national politics. I have been for many years, and shall be until I die. My great desire is to see these reforms, for which I in company with other Democrats have been fighting, realized, for I believe they will bring blessings untold to the American people, and I come from a distant state to give you what assistance I can, because I am interested in these questions. Am I more interested than you? Have I any more reason than you Democrats? I know of no reason that I have to make me anxious for reform that ought not to make you anxious for reform, too. I am as well situated as you are. I can stand Republican legislation as well as you can. I can live under bad government as well as you can live. I can provide for my children no matter what party is in power, and I can leave them all that it is good for them to have left to them. I have no favors to ask of anyone, but, my friends, I want to leave my children something better than money. Money may take the wings of the morning and fly away. I want to leave them something more enduring than personal property or real estate. I want to leave them a government that will protect them in the enjoyment of life and liberty and in the pursuit of happiness. That is the richest legacy that father can leave the child.

But there is no more reason why I should leave my children good government than that you should leave your children good government; and there is no more reason why I should fight for Democracy than there is that you should fight for Democracy. My interest is not due to the fact that I have been a candidate for high office. My interest is not due to the fact that I may be a candidate for high office in the future, for office is but an incident of my life, and there are things which concern me more. I have never wanted office merely to hold office, for I have long since learned that my place in history will not be determined by what people do for me, but by what I can do for my people.

I have said this much because I wanted to impress upon your minds that you ought to be as much interested as I am in this fight, and now, Democrats, if I will come from Nebraska at my own expense to help you win a victory in Kentucky for Democracy, can't you go from your homes to your polls on election day and do your part toward winning that victory? What excuse can you give your conscience or your neighbors if on election day you remain away from the polls?

What excuse can you give to your conscience or your country if by any neglect of yours these principles which you hold dear are defeated, and simply through your failure to do what you can? Is it not worth your while to vote, yourselves, and then do what you can to get your neighbors to join with you to make your majority larger now than ever before?

I understand that you have so big a majority down here that when you get up in the morning and then hear that the country has gone Republican you cannot understand how any part of the country could go Republican, as there are so many Democrats in this county; but, my friends, strange as it may seem, there are many people in many parts of this country, and people who look much like you, who have not the political information and the political intelligence that you show on election day, and these people by a strange perversion of fate vote the Republican ticket. And I happen to live in one of those communities where a majority of the people do not seem to understand public questions; and whenever there is a campaign on hand we generally have a meeting in the city of Lincoln, and I make a speech to my Republican neighbors and try to seize them by the throat from the burning and bring them within the fold of the elect, and last fall when the time came for that meeting I announced that my subject would be "Dreams." We had had Senator Beveridge there, and he had made a Republican speech, and in that speech he told them that while I was a very nice man, and while he thought a great deal of me, that I was not a doer of things, but just a dreamer, and that while I dreamed, the president was doing things; and it was printed in the paper, and I read it, but I did not think much of it; I didn't pay much attention to it, but in a few days I read in the paper that Governor Cummings of Iowa had made a speech and called me a dreamer. When I saw that a second one had called me a dreamer I sat up and took notice, and in a few days I read that Governor Hanly had called me a dreamer—three of them. It began to look serious, and then I read that Speaker Cannon had called me a dreamer—four of them. I knew that my word would not amount to much against four great men, and so instead of denying it I decided to admit it and justify it; and I began to read up on the subject of dreams. I thought I would post myself and find out what I really was, or whether it was a disgraceful thing or not; and I found to my surprise that the subject of dreams was really quite a subject, after all, and that there had been dreamers before. I went to the Bible, where I always go when I am in trouble. I have never found a book with so much truth in it as the Bible contains, and I don't know of any book where truth is more beautifully expressed and I looked in the Bible to see if I could find anything about the dreamer; and I found that there were dreamers in the Bible, and that the most prominent one was Joseph and because Joseph's brothers called him a dreamer, and they did not like his dreams, they hated him. They plotted to kill him, and when he was sent up by his father to his brethren who had their flocks in Dothan, they said, "Here comes the dreamer; let us put him away and be done with him." But finally they decided that instead of killing him they would just put him down in a pit, and let the father believe that he had been killed in some way by a wild beast. Then some merchants came along, and they took Joseph out of the pit and sold him, and sent him down into Egypt, and then they congratulated themselves and said, "Now we are rid of the dreamer," and things went along for awhile until they had almost forgotten Joseph, and then there came a famine and they had to go down into Egypt and buy corn, and when they got to Egypt there they found the dreamer, and he had the corn; and so, my friends, I made up my mind it was not so bad to be a dreamer provided you have the corn, and in that speech I proceeded to show the Republicans how the Democratic party had been dreaming and how they had the corn and were prepared to satisfy all political needs.

The more I thought on this subject the less willing I was to class myself with the dreamers, for it was too high and honored for me. The dreamer, why he is a great man. John Boyle O'Reilly says that the dreamer lives forever, while the toiler dies in a day. As I went from nation to nation in traveling through Europe I found that everywhere the ideas of Jefferson had been conveyed, and that everywhere they were planted and were growing. When I left home I was proud of the Democratic party. I boasted that I belonged to a party that was essentially old, but when I got back from my trip around the world I was prouder still, for this old Democratic party that Jefferson founded is not only a century old, but it is 25,000 miles wide. I am proud of Jefferson's work. Of all the constructive statesmen in the world's history, he is the greatest, and, my friends, when the names of the Republican leaders are mentioned these names are forgotten, little children will whisper the name of Jefferson, and freemen will stand up and praise the one who taught them to know a freeman's rights and fight for them. And now, Democrats, let me ask you a question: If a Republican president can win popularity by spasmodically and sporadically doing something Democratic, what would be the popularity of a Democratic president who was consistently and persistently Democratic on all questions? Isn't this a bad time for a Democrat to become discouraged? Never since I have known politics have we had so much to encourage us.

In this state you have by organization among the farmers, been able to protect yourselves to some extent from the greed of one great monopoly, but instead of feeling satisfied at the great success that has come to your organization, I bid you have some feeling for those who are not so situated that they can protect themselves as you have been able to protect yourselves. Have you not learned something of what a monopoly is, and are you not ready now to join with us to lay the axe at the root of the tree, and instead of saying as Secretary Taft said, that there are good trusts and bad trusts, are you not ready to say with us that God never made a man good enough to stand at the head of a private monopoly and control the price of what people had to use?

Is it not time that we seriously take up this question and put the American government back upon its old foundation, and make it again a government of the people, by the people and for the people? Are you not ready to enlist in this contest? I have been fighting for this principle now seventeen years, and I ask for nothing better than I might continue this fight until God calls me from my earthly labors. Are you willing to enlist, not for three months, or six months or a year—are you willing to enlist for this war until justice shall triumph and our nation shall be relieved?

While next year the fight will be on a larger field and the stakes will be greater, now in this fight you are on the skirmish line, and if you will give us a splendid victory for Hager and his associates, we shall rejoice with you; and if you will give us a legislature that elects Beckham, our rejoicing will be doubly great; and I hope that when the polls are closed and the vote is counted you will have such a victory in Kentucky that we can hear your shouts all the way to Nebraska, and then when we hear them we will be so glad that we will shout so loud that you can hear them in Kentucky.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For United States Senator,
J. C. W. BECKHAM.For Governor,
SAMUEL W. HAGER.For Lieutenant Governor,
SOUTH TRIMBLE.For Secretary of State,
HUBERT VREELAND.For Attorney General,
JOHN K. HENDRICK.For Auditor,
HENRY M. BOSWORTH.For Treasurer,
RUBY LAFFOON.For Commissioner of Agriculture,
J. W. NEWMAN.For Supt. of Public Instruction,
M. O. WINFREY.For Clerk Court of Appeals,
JOHN B. CHENAULT.For Representative,
LOGAN C. WINFREY.

Reports from Washington has led some one to write as follows on the passing of the old soldiers and the pensions allowed them: For over twenty years after the close of the Civil war the pension roll of the old soldiers increased annually millions of dollars. Then came the Spanish-American War which added a good many names to the list. The list is now on the decrease at the rate of several millions annually. The last fiscal year showed a decrease of $6,000,000 and the amount of the appropriation for the present year is $22,000,000 less than that for 1893, when it reached the top notch. In ten years more the present pension roll will be cut in half. The vast majority of them are old men. Very few are under sixty years old. The majority of them are seventy or over and the death among them is increasing wonderfully. In ten years the G. A. R. will not be able to have a parade, as the remnant of the old soldiers will be too infirm to march. In twenty years there will only be a few lonely survivors of that great struggle that shook the world.

A considerable flurry was created here last week, a report having reached the populace that Mr. Perryman, the Republican candidate for the Legislature, had failed to file his certificate with County Court Clerk, T. R. Stults, in time to have his name printed upon the ballots in Adair county. An investigation was made, and the certificate was found in the possession of Mr. W. A. Coffey, who is a deputy County Court Clerk, but not marked filed. The Republicans claim that the certificate being in the possession of said deputy clerk makes it good. The Democrats claim that it is not good. The name of Mr. Perryman was sent to the printer, and as we are informed, will be printed upon the ballots for Adair county. Those who are informed upon the law in such cases can form their own conclusion.

The dog law seems to be an eye sore to some Republicans. They are reminded that Dr. L. C. Nell, the Senator of this district, thought it a good law and voted for it, as did quite a number of other Republican Senators and Representatives. They are also reminded that there are quite a number of Republican States with a dog law upon their statutes, and no provisions made to pay farmers for sheep killed, the tax being two dollars on the dog, while in Kentucky it is only one dollar on the dog and a provision made to pay farmers for sheep killed.

With this issue The News makes it's last say before the election. For several weeks we have been urging the Democrats to let nothing but serious sickness keep them from the polls. It is necessary for every Democrat in the county to vote in order to reduce the Republican majority in Adair. Do not conclude that the Democratic ticket is safe and remain away from the election. The Republican majority is three hundred in this county. It can be cut down if the Democrats do their duty—every man of the party voting. A gain in Adair county would be a gain for the State ticket.

Plans for the 6th Annual Kentucky State Development Convention to be held in Louisville on November 19th, 20th and 21st are rapidly maturing, and acceptances are being received from eminent speakers who have been invited to take part in the program. Every line of industry will be given due attention on the program, speakers of wide renown discussing topics which are now occupying the minds of the citizens of Kentucky.

We understand that some enthusiastic Republicans, not far from Columbia, have waged money that Willson will be elected. Persons who put up money on the Republican candidate for Governor are certainly backing their judgment on what they read in the Herald, a paper that has not told the truth since the campaign opened. The best informed Republicans have not the remotest idea that Willson will be elected.

Logan C. Winfrey knows where and with whom to file his petition in order to get his name printed on the ballot. He did not lock it up in the vault of a bank. He delivered it to T. R. Stults county court clerk, in the county court clerk's office in the court house, and Mr. Stults wrote the following on it "1907 Oct 8, filed in clerks office. Test, T. R. Stults, C. A. C. C."

"Humpty", Willson and the Louisville Herald have conducted the silliest campaign ever inaugurated in Kentucky. No one knows this better than well-informed Republicans. Those who do not know the Herald's tactics are claiming that Willson will be in the race, but when the smoke of battle has been cleared, it will be found that another Belknap race has been recorded.

An injunction would have kept Perryman's name off the ballot in Adair county and insured the election of Logan C. Winfrey to the Legislature, but Mr. Winfrey, the gentleman that he is, refused to stoop to such political tactics as were resorted to by Edwards, Hunter, White and others.

L. C. Winfrey has demonstrated to the people of this Legislative district that he is a man of integrity. He is worthy and well qualified to make a Representative of whom we would all be proud. Let all those who want a man of sterling qualification vote for him on Nov. 5.

It is the duty of every man who wants a fair deal in the conduct of the State's affairs to go to the polls on the 5th of November and stamp under the rooster, voting for every man on the Democratic ticket. Less makes the majority larger than it has been for many years.

Hon. W. J. Bryan will spend one more day in Kentucky and will reach the State the morning of the 29th. He will speak in the Sixth and Seventh districts, the principal meetings being in Covington, Newport and Lexington. He is the greatest vote getter of the present age.

No Governor in the United States has a better record than J. C. W. Beckham. His administration has been economical, and when he turns his office over to another person his successor will find the State out of debt and all the public institutions in fine condition.

Willson stated in a speech, a few days ago, that Hager had a man traveling with him who carried a suit case of whisky, and that after the speaking Hager and his friends consumed the liquor. Mr. Hager denounces the statement as a willful falsehood.

The State of Kentucky is in fine fix financially, hence there is no necessity to turn the affairs of Commonwealth over to another party, especially to the party who was in the saddle at one time, leaving the State in a wretched condition.

The political situation in Louisville, judging from what we gather from the papers is, that Tyler will defeat Grinstead for Mayor and that it will be a neck and neck race between Hager and Willson.

There should be some legislation for the benefit of Adair and Cumberland counties. If the two counties will elect Hon. L. C. Winfrey to the Legislature the needed legislation will be secured.

We have not seen a paper since the canvass opened, that claimed Willson would be elected but one, the Louisville Herald, and both Democrats and Republicans regard that sheet as unreliable.

Ex-Governor W. O. Bradley is making votes for the Democratic ticket. He stated in his Lebanon speech that the negroes were better than the Democratic leaders.

Candidate Perryman is very thoughtful. He failed to file his certificate within the prescribed time, and billed himself to speak at Milltown on the 20th which was Sunday.

It now looks like Mr. Taft is out of the race for the Presidency and that either Roosevelt or Governor Hughes, of New York, will be nominated by the Republicans.

The next Republican National Convention will either go to Chicago or Kansas City, the chances being in favor of the former.

NEW GOODS!

Just received a nice line of Dry-goods, Clothing and Groceries. Country Produce wanted. Give me a call.

W. L. SIMMONS, HUMBLE, KY.

Mr. Luther Perryman, Republican candidate for Legislature, was billed to speak at Milltown last Sunday, but he did not reach his appointment until Monday.

Representatives of Taylor county, who have recently been in Adair, say that the Democrats of that county will increase their majority one hundred votes.

Senator J. W. Newman is canvassing the Legislative district with Hon. L. C. Winfrey. Their first appointment was at Glenville.

Judge Hager has made an honorable canvass of the State, and the people will reward him by electing him Governor.

There is no doubt about the election of the Democratic State ticket. The question is how much will the majority be.

Those who are active should see that every Democrat in the county is at the polls next Tuesday.

Hon. L. C. Winfrey is worthy of your votes. Do not forget him on the 5th of November.

Mr. L. C. Winfrey would make a painstaking Representative and he should be elected.

Be at the polls next Tuesday and stamp under the rooster.

This is the last issue of the News before the election.

Our town was full up every day last week with commercial men and every one seemed to have some business. You may know by this business is good now.

Thomas A. Edison the great American inventor, says "Fully eighty per cent of the illness of mankind comes from eating improper food or too much food; people are inclined to over-indulge themselves." This is where indigestion finds its beginning in nearly every case. The stomach can do just so much work and no more, and when you overload it or when you eat the wrong kind of food, the digestive organs cannot possibly do the work demanded of them, it is at such times that the stomach needs help and warns you by headaches, belching, sour stomach, nausea and indigestion. You should attend to this at once by taking something that will actually do the work for the stomach. Kodol will do this. It is a combination of natural digestants and vegetable acids and contains the same juices found in a healthy stomach. It is pleasant to take. It digests what you eat. Sold by Page & Dohoney.

Guaranteed Cure for Constipation

After watching results for sixteen years, during which time many millions of bottles were sold and thousands of letters from users were received, the originators of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, the great herb laxative compound, feel safe in guaranteeing it in the various diseases of the stomach, liver and bowels; such as chronic constipation, dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness, flatulence, sour stomach, bloated stomach, heartburn, etc. There is an absolute guarantee to refund the purchase price if Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin does not do what is claimed for it.

For sixteen years this remedy has been recommended for stomach, liver and bowel complaints and the fact that each year more and more families are using it proves that it has the merit claimed for it and the letters we are constantly receiving prove that it is curing these diseases. Hence the guarantee is justified.

Mr. Almon, of Roanoke, I. T., considers Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin the best laxative used on the market because, to use his own words, "it does all you claim for it and I do not know of another medicine of its kind that does." Mrs. Williams, of Salsburg, Ill., writes that she used it in her home all her married life and would not have been without it for thousands of others have written to the same effect.

If you have any complaint for which Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is recommended go to your druggist and get a 50 cent or $1 bottle. Place it on the shelf that we guarantee satisfaction. You will find it gentle in action and pleasant in taste. It works promptly and efficiently, and causes no purgative waters, salts and cathartic powder or pills, does not gripe and leave you feeling weak and tired. It is safe to say that you will like it and will have no need to call for a laxative. It is especially suited to children and weak people because of its composition.

HON. C. C. McCHORD

His Re-election Is Earnestly Desired by Business Men and Shippers of Kentucky—His Splendid Record.

In view of the importance to all the people of the office of Railroad Commissioner, attention is called to the opposition recently put forth against Hon. C. C. McChord by the petition candidate, Mr. Lew Tarlton. The democratic party nominated Mr. McChord some months ago; thereafter, the executive committee of the republican party met and refused to give him opposition. Nevertheless, on the evening of the very last day on which it could be done, Mr. Lew Tarlton, in disregard of the wishes of his party, as evidenced by the action of its executive committee, filed a petition with the secretary of state and has forced his name upon the ballot as the republican candidate for Railroad Commissioner.

From the following comments from republican as well as democratic sources, it seems that Mr. Tarlton's effort to thus obtain an office will undoubtedly fail:

FROM THE LOUISVILLE TIMES (DEMOCRATIC).

Regardless of political affiliation, business men of Louisville and Kentucky have endorsed the candidacy of Mr. C. C. McChord, and it is not believed in view of this fact, that he would have opposition for re-election. His services as chairman of the Kentucky Railroad Commission were recognized as being most valuable by the business men of the state, and they are desirous of keeping him in the position, where he can protect their interests against the railroads. To this end a nonpartisan movement to endorse his candidacy swept through practically the whole state.

Some of the most valuable services that Mr. McChord has rendered the business interests of Kentucky is his fight to compel the railroads to reduce the freight rates in Kentucky 25 per cent. If this is done Mr. McChord says that Louisville will then be placed on an equal footing with Cincinnati.

FROM THE LOUISVILLE HERALD (REPUBLICAN).

Charles C. McChord was elected Railroad Commissioner ten years ago and was endorsed by the republicans of the state. He has been a valiant champion of the people; indeed, at this moment we know of no public official in Kentucky to whom she could say with more candor, "Well done, good and faithful servant."

Mr. McChord has devoted the best part of his life to the cause of the people. He has been a staunch friend of Louisville merchants and manufacturers. He has been able to meet corporate greed with strict interpretation of the law, and in so doing has incurred corporate enmity.

The Herald holds no brief for Mr. McChord, but it would be careless of the duty it owes the public if it did not do the simple act of justice to an honest official.

FROM THE COURIER JOURNAL (DEMOCRATIC).

C. C. McChord, chairman of the Kentucky Railroad Commission, was elected president of the National Association of Railroad Commissioners at its annual meeting, which has just adjourned after a four days' session in Washington, D. C. The honor came to Mr. McChord unanimously. While a large majority of the 125 delegates to the convention are republicans, there was not a dissenting voice to his election.

Considerable surprise was manifested among the delegates over the fact that Mr. McChord has opposition for re-election in Kentucky. He has proved such an all-around, capable officer, his election to the presidency of the national convention testifying to the high regard in which he is held, that it was taken for granted that the republicans in Kentucky fully endorsed his record.

FROM THE NEWS LEADER (REPUBLICAN).

While the News Leader is republican in politics, yet it never hesitates to call attention to and to commend the work of a public official when it deserves commendation.

We do not believe the people of Kentucky have the slightest idea of defeating Hon. C. C. McChord for Railroad Commissioner. Although he is the democratic nominee, the regular governing authority of the republican party, namely, its executive committee, some weeks ago refused to make a nomination against him, thereby virtually endorsing his candidacy; he has therefore, received the approval of the two great political parties. The gentleman who has forced himself upon the republican ticket by petition has no claim upon the republican party for its support for the reason that he is not its nominee.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY THE BOWLING GREEN BUSINESS MEN'S PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION.

RESOLVED: By the Bowling Green Business Men's Protective Association, FIRST: That we recognize the fact that the proper regulation of railroad rates is now the most important question before the people of Kentucky, as well as the people of the United States at large.

SECOND: That the Bowling Green Business Men's Protective Association recognizes in the Hon. C. C. McChord a faithful, intelligent, efficient and honest public official, who has given great care and study to "railroad regulation," and who has the courage to be just to the shippers and at the same time just to the railroads.

THIRD: That we appreciate the valuable services he has already rendered the people of Kentucky in his present position and believe that if he is permitted to continue in such position the good already accomplished is but a foretaste of the benefits of a Railroad Commission which is not content to be a mere sinecure, but which undertakes to faithfully execute the duties required by law.

FOURTH: We feel that the people of Kentucky could ill afford to lose the services of so able an expert as the Hon. C. C. McChord, just at this time when the question of the regulation of railroad freight rates is on trial and the people of his district are, therefore, urged to stand loyally by him in his fight for re-election.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY THE LUMBER DEALERS OF KENTUCKY.

WHEREAS, the Hon. C. C. McChord has rendered signal service to the shippers of this state during his entire career as Railroad Commissioner, now therefore, be it

RESOLVED by the Louisville Lumbermen's Club of Kentucky: FIRST: That we recognize in the Hon. C. C. McChord a faithful, untiring and incorruptible public official who by years of intelligent work and study has equipped himself to be, and now is one of the ablest railroad commissioners in the United States with the ability and courage to do justice to both shipper and carrier;

SECOND: That as a club we disclaim any political allegiance with any party, our membership being composed of members of various political parties, but we take this action because we deem the matter one of business rather than politics, feeling that it is the duty not alone to all shippers, but also of all public spirited citizens who desire the development of our state's great natural resources to give to Mr. McChord their loyal and active support.

Hard Times in Kansas.

The old days of grasshoppers and drouth are almost forgotten in the prosperous Kansas of to-day; although a citizen of Cozelle, Earl Shanberg has not yet forgotten hard time he encountered. He says: "I was worn out and discouraged by coughing night and day and could find no relief till I tried Dr. King's New Discovery. It took less than one bottle to completely cure me." The safest and most reliable cough and cold remedy and lung and throat healer ever discovered. Guaranteed by T. E. Pauli drug store 50c and $1.00. trial bottle free.

And now a few words to the voter. As it is only a few days until election it is high time to be considering the political status of the time. If you want to have your tax rate raised; if you want the militia called out to intimidate voters; if you want honest men shot down while peacefully performing their duties, and the assassins protected by executive clemency; if you want the legislature and the highest court of the state driven from the state capital by a lawless mob; if you want outside capital driven from the state and home industries ruined, go to the polls and vote for Wilson and the Republican ticket. On the other hand, if you want your tax rate cut; if you want the militia held in strict subordination to the civil authority as the constitution provides; if you want all criminals punished alike without fear or favor; if you want the states honor respected abroad; if you want law abiding citizens protected in their rights; if you want the State's educational interest advanced; if you want the state to stay out of debt and to keep a neat little sum in the treasury to meet emergencies, then go to the polls and vote for Hager and the Democratic ticket. It is a fact that cannot be controverted that when Beckham was inaugurated that the state owed $1,700,000 that she did not have a copper to pay on; that the above debt and interest has been paid and $1,300,000 dollars yet in the treasury. And yet the tax rate has been 2 1/2 cents less on the $100 than when the Republicans held sway.

FROM OKLAHOMA.

Thinking a few lines from Oklahoma might be of some interest to some of the many readers I thought I would try and write a few lines. I see many letters from different states written by old Kentuckians who have left the old home.

Crops are good here but they were cut short by not getting rain in the early summer. Farmers haul off a bale of cotton and get $65 for it; corn sells at 45 cents a bushel which is a good price. This is a fine country for a poor man—wages good. The farmers wives can sell produce for good prices, eggs are 20 cts., per dozen; ripe tomatoes sell for 3 and 4 cents per pound. No fruit here yet, to amount to anything. Some had a good crop of peaches, while others had none. Every thing does well here.

Some of the finest watermelons I ever saw grow here also sweet potatoes. I have seen any amount of watermelons here that weighed all the way from 35 to 50 lbs. Come on with your letters from Joppa and Glenville, as the latter was my home, you write more often than you have been, as I watch for them with pleasure. I have been away from the old home six years. I was there on a visit this summer. For fear this will reach the waste basket I will quit and maybe write again in the future. success to the News and its many readers.

M. L. Wyatt.
